PROF. GREHAN RETURNS FROM 6 MONTHS LEAVE

Spent Much Time in Preparing Book on Study of Words

ACCOMPANIED BY WIFE AND MISS HELEN KING

Saw Many Points of Interest; Returned Across the American Desert

Prof. Enoch Grehan, head of the department of journalism who has been on a six months sabbatical leave of absence from the University, returned last week end from California. He was accompanied by Mrs. Grehan and Miss Helen King, who is now in charge of the publicity bureau during the absence of Prof. Elmer Sulzer.

Professor Grehan spent much of the time in writing and preparing his new book on the study of words. It is now ready to be typewritten and will be ready for publication this winter.

Professor and Mrs. Grehan left Lexington February 5 and drove to Pasadena, Calif., over the old Spanish Trail near the Mexican border, completing the trip February 22. They stayed in Pasadena until May 22 when they went to Santa Barbara for a month. They returned to Pasadena where they were joined July 2 by Miss King.

The party left Pasadena July 6 and drove back to Kentucky across the desert, and through Nevada, Utah, Kansas, Missouri, Illinois and Indiana.

While in California Professor and Mrs. Grehan visited many points of interest in the state. "Although California and the West are beautiful and interesting, we are glad to get back to Kentucky and to see the people here again. There's no place like our own state," said Professor Grehan when interviewed.

Professor Grehan will resume his duties as head of the journalism department at the opening of the fall term. During his absence, Prof. Victor R. Portmann has been acting head of the department.

Freshman Week to Open September 12

First Year Students Must Be in Attendance at All Meetings

The program of Freshman Week at the University which starts Thursday, September 12, at 9 a. m., and which lasts until September 17, will be announced shortly. All freshmen expecting to enter the University must be in attendance.

A general outline of the program has already been made known. The general gathering place of the first year students will be Memorial hall, the new auditorium which has recently been completed. The freshmen are divided into sections of 30, which will have their headquarters in McVey hall, and their programs will be in charge of the professors of the University and their student assistants.

There will be lectures dealing with University life and campus activities, and in the meantime there will be tours of the campus and surrounding points of interest. This is done in order to acquaint the student with his future environment and enable him to become "at home" on the campus. Each student is required to have a physical examination during the week.

INFORMATION FILE IS KEPT

The University publicity bureau maintains a complete and up-to-date file of faculty members, alumni and prominent students which is available to all. General information of the University is also tabulated and ready for use.

First Convocation Will Be August 7

The first convocation of the second semester of the Summer Session will be held Wednesday morning, August 7 at 9:30 o'clock in Memorial hall. H. E. Taylor, of Berea College, will give an organ recital on the new pipe organ which was recently installed. It has been announced by Dr. W. S. Taylor, director of the Summer School at the University.

Mr. Taylor is organist at the Union church in Berea. Classes will be adjourned for the recital and the public is invited.

U. of K. Professors Visit Jersey Picnic

Gov. Flem Sampson and Ex-Governor Fields Among Speakers at Affair

Prof. W. S. Anderson, E. S. Good, Joe Nageotte and John Nutter, of the College of Agriculture at the University, attended the Kentucky Jersey Cattle Club picnic at the farm of P. B. Gaines near Carrollton last week.

Approximately 300 persons attended the picnic, including Gov. Flem D. Sampson, W. J. Fields, former governor; Louis W. Morley, secretary of the American Jersey Cattle Club, New York; and O. E. Van-Cleve, southern representative of the American Jersey Cattle Club. Governor Sampson and Mr. Fields were among the speakers.

Barbecued lamb was served for lunch. Senator Gaines' Jersey herd, consisting of 200 fine animals, was on exhibition. The senator is president of the Kentucky Jersey Cattle Club, and owns one of the best breeding herds in the South.

Prof. Elmer Sulzer Leaves on Vacation

Prof. Elmer G. Sulzer, director of the University band and head of the publicity bureau, left yesterday for a vacation of three weeks in Indiana.

During his absence, Scott Keyes, announcer, will be in charge of the University extension radio studio, and Miss Helen King, who returned last week from a trip to California, will have charge of the publicity bureau.

Professor Sulzer plans to visit the largest band instrument factories in Indiana, as he will spend most of his time in Madison and Frankfort.

PROF. TERRELL HAS NEW MARE

Retired Philosopher Spends Spare Time Riding New Pet, "Lena"; "Katy" Will Remain on Farm

Dr. Glanville Terrell, former professor of philosophy at the University, who was retired with the title of professor emeritus at commencement, is spending much of his spare time at his home in Louisa, Va., riding horseback on his new 7-year-old mare, "Lena."

Dr. Terrell was forced to abandon his 700-mile ride to Louisa last month when his old mare, "Katy," went lame after traveling 300 miles to Gladespring, Va. There he sold her to a farmer and she will spend the remainder of her days on the farm.

Dr. Terrell's new steed, "Lena," is not quite as good a rider as Katy, the professor reports, as she has not been ridden much. Due to the extreme hot weather, Dr. Terrell, who is 70 years old, has not ridden longer than 20 miles at a stretch this summer. In 1927 "Katy" carried her master 610 miles from Louisa to Lexington in 19 days.

The philosopher describes his new mare as "spirited, intelligent and affectionate." He hopes to get her down to her gait in a few weeks.

Editor-in-Chief of "Letters"

PROF. E. F. FARQUHAR

"Letters," the University literary magazine, has been mailed to regular subscribers, and those who wish to obtain a single copy may get them at the Kernel office, or from any member of the English department. The price of the magazine is 25 cents per copy, or $1.00 a year by subscription.

Prof. E. F. Farquhar is editor-in-chief of the magazine, which has a staff composed of members of the English department faculty and students. With the August issue, "Letters" completes its second year as a quarterly magazine on the campus.

The magazine is sent to people throughout the South, as well as other sections of the country, and has gained a high standing among publications of its type.

SHEEP BREEDERS CONCLUDE MEET

School Arranged by University and Kentucky Accredited Sheep Breeders' Assn. Has Successful Week.

A sheep breeders' school, arranged by the College of Agriculture and the Kentucky Accredited Purebred Sheep Breeders' Association, began Monday and ended today, after a successful week of discussion and visiting nearby farms.

Tuesday members of the school visited the following farms: P. B. Gaines, Carrollton; W. T. Forsee, Owensboro; Rufus Martin, Sparta; C. D. Cotton and Son, Jonesville; and Kenneth Connolly, Elliston. Wednesday the farmers toured the farms of William Hinton and John Marshall, at Sadieville; and W. D. Adams, Devers Brothers and Cassidy & McCourt at Stamping Ground; while the Thursday schedule included John Wright, Millersland Farms, Versailles and the University Experiment Station, Lexington.

Prof. Richard Miller and Harold Barber of the University were aided in conducting the school by Prof. E. L. Shaw, of Ohio; Prof. W. L. Henning, of Pennsylvania and Prof. C. C. Flannery, of Tennessee.

There was a meeting of the Sheep Breeders' Association Thursday afternoon, which was followed by a banquet last night. Speakers at the dinner were Secretary Julia M. Wade, of the American Shropshire Association; Secretary W. L. Henning, of the American Southern Association; Homer Hancock, former commissioner of agriculture in Tennessee, and Prof. E. L. Shaw, of Ohio.

Trail's End Camp Is Having Good Season

Trail's End Camp for girls, owned by Miss Sarah G. Blanding, dean of women at the University, and Miss Mary DeWitt Snyder, is reported as having a very successful season. The camp is beautifully located on the Kentucky river, near Clay's Ferry, Richmond road, and is well attended by girls from all parts of the United States, some coming as far as Texas to enroll.

Dancing, archery, tennis, riding, riflery, art work, basketball, swimming and canoeing are some of the sports included in the camp schedule. Two periods of four weeks each are held, in which time many trips are taken on the river, to Mammoth Cave and nearby historical sights of the Blue Grass country.

During the summer while Miss Blanding is at camp Mrs. P. K. Holmes is acting dean of women. The former will close camp and return to her work at the University in time for Freshman Week.

MISS RUTH BROWN LEAVES

Miss Ruth Brown, who has been head of the catalogue department at the University library for the last two years, has resigned and expects to register at Columbia University in the fall where she will take advanced work for her master's degree in library science. Miss Brown is leaving at the end of this week and will visit friends in Frankfort and Winchester before going to Washington, D. C., to join her family for the rest of the summer.

REGISTRATION TOPS PREVIOUS RECORD BY 36

Enrollment Reaches Total of 710; Education College Leads With 230

DEAN W. S. TAYLOR IS DIRECTOR OF SCHOOL

Final Examinations in Most Classes to Be Held on August 23, 24

Registration for the second semester of the Summer Session had reached a total of 10 students when the last day for enrollment had ended, topping previous records for the final summer term by 36.

Approximate numbers of students in the six colleges are: Arts and Sciences, 155; Education, 230; Law, 30; Engineering, 60; Commerce, 15; and the Graduate School, 96.

Reservations for rooms in the dormitories are now closed for the second semester. However, students who wish to sign for rooms for the fall term may do so.

Dean William S. Taylor of the College of Education is in charge of the Summer Session, while President Frank L. McVey and many of the members of the regular faculty are also on duty during the summer.

Special permission is required to work off more than seven credits or more than six, if seven were taken the first semester, as only 13 may be taken for the entire summer.

Final examinations in most classes will be held August 23 and 24, with school closing August 24. The fall term will open September 12 for Freshman Week, with sophomores, juniors and seniors registering September 16 and 17. Class work will start September 18.

Dr. Roy V. Sherman Leaves University; Will Go to Akron

Dr. Roy V. Sherman, of the department of political science at the University, has resigned his position, according to Dr. J. C. Jones, head of the department, and will take a similar appointment at the University of Akron.

Dr. Sherman is a graduate of the University of Iowa and has been at the University of Kentucky for two years. He was largely instrumental in forming a League of Kentucky Municipalities for the state. He will devote most of his time to municipal government and administration at the Ohio school.

POULTRY WEEK IS CONCLUDED

45 Counties Are Represented by 80 Men and 28 Women at Fifth Annual University Course.

Forty-five counties were represented in the fifth annual week's course in poultry raising at the University which closed last week end. Eighty men and 28 women, representing counties extending from Ashland to Fulton, were in attendance. Farm poultry problems were considered and practical work given in judging, culling, selection of breeding stock and other operations.

Members of the the University faculty were assisted in the work by H. H. Steup, of "The Poultry Tribune," and Prof. Berley Winton, of the University of Missouri.

The board of directors of the Kentucky Poultry Improvement Association, meeting during the week, voted to continue its activities in behalf of the furthering of raising of better and more profitable poultry on the farms of the state.

Arrangements were made to turn over to the Experiment Station sufficient funds with which to employ a full-time field agent in poultry improvement.

A resolution was passed by the board urging the International Baby Chick Association to hold its 1930 annual convention in Louisville.

C. A. Duncan, of Calvert City, and Walter J. Fresh, of Georgetown, representing the 800 accredited flock owners in the state, assumed places on the board of directors.

Other members present were W. E. Pyles, Maysville; A. L. Volkers, vice president, Lexington; Strauter Harney, Paris; George R. Turner, Campbellsville; Clyde Sanders, Lancaster; Mrs. John Fisher, Lexington; and J. Holmes Martin and J. R. Smyth of the Experiment Station.

Pres. Frank McVey Leaves on Vacation

Dr. Frank L. McVey, president of the University, left Wednesday for a six week vacation in Williamsburg, Mich. He plans to fish, read and sketch, indulging in his favorite pastimes, and will return in time to take up the work for the fall semester. Dr. McVey was accompanied by Mrs. McVey.

Popular University Co-Ed

Word has been received here that Miss Bonnin will attend the School of the Theater, Harner Institute, in Kansas City, Mo., this winter, and is planning to follow a stage career. While on the campus she was outstanding in the dramatic field, and was leading lady for the 1929 Stroller play, "Square Crooks."

Miss Bonnin was regimental sponsor for the R. O. T. C. unit and had a title of major during the past year; she was selected a Kentuckian beauty for the past two years; was elected vice president of her freshman class in 1927-1928; and was a member of Alpha Gamma Delta, social sorority.

RADIO PROGRAM GIVEN FOR WEEK

Prof. Bertrand Ramsey, of Physics Department, Will Speak on All Phases of Electricity.

If your son is an amateur electrician or if you are inclined to tinker with the radio you are bound to be interested in the radio speech to be given Thursday, August 8, by Professor Ramsey of the physics department of the University. Professor Ramsey's speech will cover all phases of the interesting subject of electricity in a simple and comprehensible manner. Educators and all others interested in the welfare of Kentucky's school system will hear something to their liking Tuesday. The complete program for the week of August 5 follows:

Monday, August 5, 12:30 to 12:45 p. m.—"The Sheep Talk," by Prof. R. C. Miller, College of Agriculture.

Tuesday, August 6, 12:30 to 12:45 p. m.—"Getting Money for Kentucky's Public Schools," by Prof. Dale Russell, College of Education.

Wednesday, August 7, 12:30 to 12:45 p. m.—(a) "Dairy Talk," by Professor Joe Nageotte, College of Agriculture. (b) "Sheep Talk," by Prof. R. C. Miller, College of Agriculture.

Thursday, August 8, 12:30 to 12:45 p. m.—"The Stuff of Electricity," by Prof. Bertrand P. Ramsey, department of physics.

Friday, August 9, 12:30 to 12:45 p. m.—"What Farm Folks Are Asking," by Prof. N. R. Elliott, College of Agriculture.

Girls' School Gives Course in Aviation

TARRYTOWN, N. Y. — Mason Junior College and School for Girls has announced a new course in aviation, including ground aviation, a course for flying for a pilot's license and a commercial license course.

The work will be under the direction of Professor Spaulding, director of the Curtis Ground School, and will meet the requirements of the U. S. Department of Commerce. This is not the first time that Mason College has launched a course in a field formerly regarded as one solely for men. Some years ago a course in journalism was instituted and the students at the college were allowed to work on assignments on the local newspaper, the Daily News.

C. M. T. C. MEN RECOMMENDED

Olen Coffman, Lewisburg, W. Va., member of Company I, and George Leedy, of Paintsville, a member of Company M, both in the Citizens' Military Training Camp at Camp Knox, have been recommended as principal and alternate respectively for the University scholarship, which will soon be awarded.

MISS HOFFMAN LEAVES

Miss Laura Gill Hoffman, secretary to the dean of women, has left on a three weeks vacation. She will visit friends in Mt. Sterling and St. Louis, Mo.

Richard Conn Will Return to Columbia

Richard Conn, former student at the University who has been spending a three months vacation in Lexington with his grandmother, Mrs. F. J. Conn, will leave Sunday for Columbia, South America where he is connected with the Tropical Oil Company. He does not expect to return home for two years, when he will have another vacation. Mr. Conn is a member of the Delta Chi fraternity.

Law Library Adds 49 Books to List

Complete Rearrangement and Recataloguing Is Made by Faculty Members

Forty-nine new volumes have recently been added to the library in the College of Law at the University, according to Dean A. E. Evans. A complete rearrangement and recataloguing of the library was made during the last week by members of the faculty.

While Judge Lyman Chalkley was at Harvard University last year the librarian of the Law College there presented him with the Harvard Law Library Catalogue, in two volumes, which has proved of aid to law students.

During the past year Dean Evans has obtained the reports of the lower courts of New York and Pennsylvania. An effort is now being made to secure the statutes of all the states, as the library possesses statutes of ten states at present.

Rhythm Kings Band Having Good Trip

Word has been received from members of Toy Sandefur's Rhythm Kings orchestra, now playing different parts in the Pacific touched by their boss, the S. S. President Jefferson, and also on board ship, that they are having a very successful trip.

They are now near Kobe, and will play there August 4 and at Shanghai August 5. At the stunt night held on the ship, members of the band played an overture, sang a duet, and gave a guitar duet.

They will reach San Francisco August 21 and will return to Lexington in time to enroll for the fall term, as all members of the orchestra are connected with the University.

Mr. Sandefur expanded his orchestra from five to fifteen members this year and has two other units playing at summer resorts in France.

DR. FUNKHOUSER GOES TO LOGAN

Explorer Expects to Spend Remainder of Summer in Excavating for Signs of Ancient Life.

Dr. W. D. Funkhouser recently returned from California where he attended the Kappa Sigma convention. He left the first part of the week for Logan county and will spend the rest of the summer there doing research work and excavating for remains of ancient life.

Dr. Funkhouser did not have time to thoroughly examine the bones of the animal supposed to be a tyrannosaurus rex, brought here by Dr. F. Kinsolving, from Missouri, but will go into the matter further upon his return.

He expects to find men to do the actual excavation work near the site in Logan county, and did not take any companions with him.

Dr. Funkhouser and Prof. W. S. Webb made some startling discoveries of a very ancient race last month in Lee county, and the former hopes to have as gratifying results on his present trip.

Campus Is Massaged With Beauty Cream, Says Writer

(By Vernon D. Rooks) Beauty may be only skin deep as far as the dainty sex is concerned, but to M. J. Crutcher, superintendent of buildings and grounds, and Harry Lindbergh, landscape gardener, who keep the jar of beauty cream with which the University campus is massaged, this cannot apply when the beauty has long roots or a concrete foundation. The Kentucky campus is always garbed in seasonal garments and its outward appearances change as often as the fickle fashions.

The alumni of 1928 would have to look twice before they recognized home, and alumni of other years would find only strange buildings and grounds. The evolution is not complete; in fact, the evolution will never be complete, no matter what the verdict of Tennessee courts.

New buildings are being born so fast that the student council is contemplating a guide book for students to be revised daily in order that freshmen will not get lost.

In the future automobiles will have only two streets through which they may enter the campus. The old Limestone drives and a new drive from Rose street to McVey Hall. What was once a roadway between McVey hall and Kastle hall has been transformed into a walk

RESERVATIONS MUST BE MADE IN DORMITORIES

Students Who Wish Rooms May Send $5 Check to Dean Melcher

NEW HALLS WILL BE OPEN SEPTEMBER 12

Breckinridge, Kincaid Halls and Old Dormitory Face on Open Courtyard

The construction of the two men's dormitories is rapidly progressing and Bradley, Kincaid and Breckinridge halls will be ready for occupancy September 12. They will house about 265 boys, but reservations are going fast, and students desiring rooms are advised to communicate with the dean of men at once. Reservations may be made by sending a check for $5 payable to the University of Kentucky to Dean C. R. Melcher.

The rental is from $40 to $55 for each student per semester, that is, about $2, $2.50 and $3 per week, according to the room location.

The two new buildings, Breckinridge and Kincaid halls, together with the old dormitory will face upon an open courtyard which will be cleared and sodded as soon as possible after work on the buildings is completed. All are fireproof, having no inflammable material in them, except the window sills.

A distinctive feature of the new buildings is that they are divided into three wings, so that it is necessary for a student living in the west end of Kincaid hall to enter that portion of the building by a door which opens into the courtyard. Students living in one part will not have access to other parts of the three section dormitory without going outside and re-entering at another door.

The matron will have her apartment in the center portion of Kincaid hall, and it will consist of a nurse's room, an office, living room, kitchenette and bath.

There will be several bed wards in each building, as well as studies in each hall, one at each end of the building. There will also be several suites, consisting of a study and bed room.

Mrs. Eloise Bland Dies After Illness

Was University Graduate and Member of Chi Omega Sorority

Mrs. Eloise Allen Bland, 32, wife of Clyde Bland, of 719 Tremont ave., died recently at the Good Samaritan hospital following a short illness.

Mrs. Bland was graduated from the University after which, for several years, she was head of the home economics department at Lexington Senior High School. She had charge of the high school cafeteria and was recognized as one of the outstanding leaders in her work. At the University she was outstanding in campus activities, a member of Chi Omega sorority and the Home Economics Club. Mrs. Bland was charming and greatly liked.

Besides her husband, she is survived by a daughter, Lucia Ann Bland, three days old; two brothers, D. Allen, of Princeton, Ind.; and J. T. Allen, of Tulsa, Okla., and two sisters, Miss Anna W. Allen, and Miss Luite D. Allen, both of Washington, D. C.

STUDENT WINS FLIGHT

W. L. Williams Jr., a student in the graduate school, won the championship of the bear grass flight in the Lexington golf club tournament held recently at the Picadome golf club. Mr. Williams was a member of the class of 1924 and is now doing work in bacteriology at the University.

Kernel "Ain't What It Was" Moans Former Staff Member

(By Beecher Adams)

This here Kernel office ain't what it used to be—now sree, not by a heckuva sight. It uster be bad enuf to cum over here and find all these here female flappers dashin' around a tryin' to make out like they wuz fernists, without havin' em tryin' to take over the whole caboodle and run the danged thing. O' course now that they hev done gone and slipped a fast one over on us hard workin' cusses and put in a woman editor-in-chief we've got to swaller it and say nothin', but I'll be danged if I don't sneak in there and throw this petition uv down trod justice on her majesty's desk and she can take it er leave it.

I'll be danged if I didn't purty near eat my last chaw of long green when I seen that thar office this mornin'. I heerd some giggles like the soliloquies uv a gang uv barnyard fowls but I never expected to see what I saw in that office, once the free and easy club room uv real news guys. The whole place had a delicate air of some kindin' perfume and I never seen so danged many powder puffs a layin' around before in my life. Fust hand I thought I'd a swore I'd stumbled in the wrong place but the sign wuz still up which says Kernel Office so I ambled on in. Wal I looked around for the old spittoon which used to make life easy around here when a guy wuz a strugglin' over some fool story turned in by one uv these here gal reporters, and danged if it wuz't gone. Pears to me like they'd done gone and swapped it off er a mirror cause there it wuz, aasetin' right over the editor's desk. Now you and me know that a newspaper office ain't no place fer a lookin' glass—the lord knows there's enuf funny sights a hangin' around with out havin' to take a look at your own mug.

These female journalists are pretty punk house keepers too, fer I'll be a flap eared mule if the floor didn't have enuf junk on it to stuff Mammoth Cave. I never seen so many hairpins, old gloves, and perty lil ole hats in my life.

Yes, and right now there's four or five uv em done come in atryin' to see what I'm a writin'. They're hangin' around me now givin' me hail Columbia, but by gosh I'm a goin' to finish what I got to say and I hopes if they don't like it they can run their durned old Kernel to suit themselves, cause its shore sunk too low now fer any uv us oldtimers to try and salvage it from the scrap heap. Shades o' Horace Greeley, but times ain't what they uster be, naw sree not by a heckuva sight.

SUMMER SCHOOL

There has been quite a bit of comment by the younger students attending the University on the drabness of the campus during the Summer Session. No athletics, no extra-curricular activities to speak of. Unbearable to many boys and girls who are used to the excitement and social life of the winter semesters.

However, to a good number of the students constituting the summer enrollment, summer school is a most welcome way to spend a vacation. Here is a chance to get back into college life for those who teach all winter. Also work may be taken on higher degrees, and consequently higher salaries may be commanded by those who receive them.

And secretly, the very people who complain about going to classes in hot weather are glad to get the opportunity to obtain extra credits toward graduation.

A MENACE TO PEACE

While the world in general was hopefully watching the attempts being made at Geneva to find a satisfactory basis for the reduction of armaments, a note of dissent was heard from Italy. King Victor Emanuel in his address at the opening of the twenty-eighth Italian parliament said, "As attempts so far tried" to bring about disarmament "have had no success, it is the duty of the state from now on to take measures for defense—to render the mother country powerful, and therefore respected." The King spoke these words, but the King like all others in Italy merely echoes the views of the real ruler, Benito Mussolini.

It appears that one of the great problems regarding the future peace of the world lies in the dynamic figure of "Il Duce." The last Italian parliamentary elections removed the last vestige of popular, free government, leaving him in control of one of the recognized world powers. His convictions about nationalism and his belief in the necessity for large armed forces are dogmas, nineteenth century in character, which caused the political upheaval in 1914.

If his policy did not involve the rest of the world, it would be a matter of little concern. But the ever-increasing population which his nationalism demands must ultimately require Italy to expand her territory. And there is little probability that the peace of the world would prevent the premier from employing his "defensive" forces to realize his ambitions.

THE SMILE

Sometimes I see on a mother's face
A beautiful smile,
And I think that surely
It is divine.
But then again
The cynic smiles,
And I behold
The devil's handiwork.

—ANON.

THE POET

He came as a song unbidden
From afar, we knew not where.
Somewhere his story was hidden
But we were too vain to care.

He moved in a world of beauty
And with ears attuned he heard
Notes of heavenly music
In the song of a forest bird.

The gray trees told him stories
That we mortals could never know
And we often wondered why he gazed
So long at the sunset glow.

His life was a melody sublime
But we were too dull to know it.
We were of the earth and common clay
And he was a deathless poet.

—VIRGIL LEON STURGILL.

Collegiate: Sure thing. Can you change a twenty?
Judge: Nope. Twenty dollars fine.

Music, Stage and Screen

Here we are back after a short lapse into obscurity last week. No, we didn't have a sunstroke, nor were we completely annihilated by the heat. The reason that there wasn't any column will have to remain a dark secret. We promise it won't happen again.

Our campus is beginning to bring forth a lot of talent along the stage line. With the Stroller leading lady planning to follow the call of the boards; two Sigma Nus in Hollywood; two Pi Kaps on the show boat and another Kentucky man actually taking a good part in a talking picture, things seem to be on the up and up for our side.

Ben Ali Sunday

For the picture coming to the Ben Ali Sunday, Fox Movietone all-talking "The Black Watch," starring our old favorite, Mictor McLaglen, we forgive him some of the terrible things he has done lately, such as "Strong Boy." Unforgettable is this homely man's role in "What Price Glory," and at last he is getting back into form. Also David Torrence who was also given a bad part in "Strong Boy," has a chance to redeem himself in this picture.

Unusual Myrna Loy has the best and most suitable characterization since "The Thief of Bagdad" and plays Yasmani to perfection. Equally pleasing in their own parts are David Rollins, Roy D'Arcy, Cyril Chadwick and Walter Long. Just forget the mediocrity of some past performances and see "The Black Watch." You will regain a high respect for McLaglen.

Stage Stars in Strand Picture

William Fox's talkie, "Pleasure Crazy," has a cast practically unknown to devotees of the movies, but well known to the stage. They are quite capable of taking the roles given them in preference to the old hands at the moving picture game, and show why actors are leaving on every train from the Great White Way, destined for Hollywood.

Although the name and parts of the story speak against this picture (we never gave a hang what the idle rich idled about anyway) it is worth seeing for some excellent lines. There's a polo game and everything.

Kentucky Sunday

An intriguing story is "The Gamblers," which comes to the Kentucky Sunday. I will not reveal the plot, for it is something new in the way of talking pictures.

H. B. Warner, formerly of the stage, has long been ace high in our rating since we saw him in "Silence." Again he scores in "The Gamblers," as well as do George Fawcett, who essays a new type of role, departing from the genial uncle character, and developing a hard-boiled squint in the corners of his eyes. Lois Wilson dresses the show.

Current Attractions

Ben Ali — Pathe's "The Office Scandal," gives us a new respect for Phyllis Haver. A story of the newspaper offices which pleases us immediately. And you can't afford to miss Raymond Hatton.

Strand — Soft voiced Bill Boyd cuts a swathe as "The Flying Fool" with the aid of Marie Prevost, who is about the only thing we don't like in the picture. Watch young Russell Gleason for a real performance.

REQUESTED TO OBEY RULES

The fire department and traffic department of the city are making a survey of the campus, according to M. J. Crutcher, superintendent of buildings and grounds. Some satisfactory plan of traffic handling will soon be worked out, but at present students are requested to be particularly careful and observant of the parking rules of the University.

Frozen Health!

There's a world of health in ice cream and that is why you never tire of it. A great scientist once said, "We live not upon what we eat, but upon what we digest." Ice cream, in addition to being a food of great nutritional value, is one of the most easily digested.

Our ice cream is the only brand made in this city under the Heathized method of freezing in a flavor-intensifying atmosphere which insures greater purity and flavor.

Eat our ice cream every day. It is easily the most popular dish of all.

SOCIETY NOTES

Entertain With Dance

Members of the Lambda Alpha chapter of the Chi Omega sorority of the University, who camped at Bide-a-Wee on the Kentucky river, entertained with a camp dance Saturday evening from 9 to 2 o'clock.

The grounds and porch were decorated with Japanese lanterns and the dancing rooms were hung with crepe paper streamers. During intermission, ices and cakes were served. An orchestra from Versailles furnished the music.

The hostesses were the chaperons, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Hoffman and the members of the sorority: Misses Mary Moore Milton, Virginia Groshear, Maude Van Buskirk, Dorothy Chapman, Charlotte Chapman, Eleanor Swearingen, Tillie Ferguson, Ann Caywood, Ann Rhodes, Henrietta Blackburn, Lisle Walters, Elizabeth Billiter, Katherine Kennedy, Mary Virginia Marrs, Josephine Lapsley, Florence Kay, Hattie Wilder, Willie Macey Mastin, Dorothy Dilly, Edith Reynolds, Madge Reynolds and Elizabeth Tinsley.

300 Mine Executives Expected to Attend Safety Day, Aug. 31

Approximately 300 mine executives, miners and attaches of the industry will attend the statewide safety day to be held at the University football stadium August 31, according to John F. Daniel, chief of the State Department of Mines, who has offices at the University.

Well trained first aid teams will gather on Stoll field to demonstrate, and a coal dust demonstration, will also be held showing the explosibility of the dust from various sections of the state.

Judges for the meet will be composed of experts from West Virginia, Indiana, Tennessee, Alabama, Virginia and Pennsylvania.

The coal dust demonstration, which will be held in a specially constructed gallery, will be conducted by the United States Bureau of Mines officials, and executives of the State Department of Mines.

Lindbergh Trophies

Many See Valuable Collection in Jefferson Memorial
Worth $500,000

ST. LOUIS.—Although more than two years have elapsed since Col. Charles A. Lindbergh completed his transatlantic hop from New York to Paris, 3,000,000 persons have viewed his various collections, according to secretary of the Jefferson Memorial here where the trophies of "Lindy" valued at $500,000 are on exhibition. Visitors still are everyday viewing the colonel's prizes.

In 1927 1,500,000 persons visited the Memorial and an equal number viewed the trophies since then. Depending on the weather, it is said the week-day average totals from 750 to 1,000. On Sundays and holidays the attendance is from 6,000 to 10,000. Many persons have returned time after time to see the trophies.

School bodies from high schools in Iowa, Missouri and Illinois have also seen the trophies. Delegates to conventions which are held here always visit the Memorial on their visits.

In the visitors book are signatures of people from Shanghai, Tokio, Moscow, Paris, London, Berlin, Canal Zone and Czechoslovakia. Also in the book appear signatures of persons from almost every state in the Union. Among the most noted is the name of Orville Wright, one of the fathers of aviation.

the arboretum garden and will co-operate with the University on its completion.

"Monkey Hollow," has been drained, cleaned, and partially filled by orders of Dean F. Paul Anderson. Next to "Monkey Hollow" the $10,000 greenhouse, to be used for heating and ventilating experiments, is complete. Across from the Administration at the corner of Upper and Scott streets the $300,000 Education building is raising its nose to hide forever the no man's land of cans and ordors. Two men's dormitories will be completed by the opening of school in September. Out on the University farm near the stock judging pavilion the $100,000 dairy products manufacturing building is taking shape. This building should be completed before the first of next year. The Men's gymnasium has been provided with separate open-
